
Scope of Work

The Interdisciplinary Center for Research on Violence will carry out a rigorous evaluation of the Center for Child Trauma Assessment, Services, and Interventions (CCTASI). The goals and objectives of the evaluation are to document CCTASI activities (process evaluation), and to understand the impact of these activities on children and families exposed to violence, and the systems that serve them (outcome evaluation). The focus of this evaluation is to understand how CCTASI can improve their resource adaptation efforts, training efforts, and public awareness/dissemination efforts to better serve children exposed to violence and their families.
